Gillis Says Talmadge To Carry All Counties; Virtually Every District

Predicts Nomination By One Of Greatest Majorities In State

Jim L. Gillis, Sr., manager of Herman Talmadge's campaign for nomination to the United States Senate, this week predicted that the Former Governor will carry "each of the 159 counties of Georgia and virtually all of the State's 1700-odd militia districts."

"It is apparent that he will be nominated by one of the greatest majorities ever given a candidate for statewide office in Georgia history," the Former State Highway Board Chairman stated.

Mr. Gillis called on all citizens who share his conviction that "we need and must have Governor Talmadge as our champion in Congress" to join with him in "working as hard as we possibly can to assure the largest possible vote for him on September 12." He pointed out that Talmadge, to be an effective spokesman for the viewpoint of Georgia and the South, must go to Washington "with the practically-unanimous backing of all Georgians."

A MESSAGE TO MY FRIENDS . . . . .

On May 9th I announced as a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Georgia's distinguished Senior Senator, Walter F. George, who has enshrined himself in the hearts of the people of our State and nation.

Since announcing my candidacy, I have traveled in all sections and virtually every county of the State. The overwhelming response which I have received has been most heartening. All of our old friends and thousands of new ones who have never before supported me or my father are at work in my behalf.

However, we cannot afford to take anything for granted. We must not allow our friends to become complacent or apathetic.

It is essential that we all continue to work as hard as we know how between now and the date of the Primary. It is necessary that we:

(1) effectively organize every precinct, and

(2) use our cars and influence to get all our friends and relatives and all of their friends and relatives to the polls to cast their ballots.

If we and all of our friends will follow this course, we can be confident of achieving on September 12th the most overwhelming victory anyone ever has received in Georgia.

If you will help me between now and election day, I promise you that I shall work as hard as I know how for the next six years to make you a United States Senator of whom you can be proud.

REPORTING ON the campaign to date, he said voter response to Talmadge's candidacy has been "overwhelming." State Headquarters, he disclosed, has received thousands of enthusiastic letters, telegrams and telephone calls "not only from old friends but also from many hundreds of Georgians—men, women and young people alike—who have never before supported Governor Talmadge."

"Our visitors at Headquarters tell us," he emphasized, "that throughout the State there is a spontaneous upsurge of public sentiment in all walks of life favoring the election of the Former Governor to a seat in the Senate."

Further evidences of enthusiasm, Mr. Gillis said, have been seen in the unsolicited organization of Talmadge Clubs in nearly every county and on most college campuses. He added that Talmadge has received more invitations to speak than he could possibly fill.

"Despite the fact that the campaign has been limited primarily to personal contacts and speeches before farm, labor, veterans, civic and other formal groups, Governor Talmadge's widespread popularity and universal appeal have been graphically demonstrated in that 12,000 persons stood in the rain at Rome to hear him open his campaign on July 4; 15,000 jammed Dublin for the rally opening his South Georgia campaign on July 7; more than 5,000 cheered him at a week-night rally at Valdosta on July 25; and more than 2,000 turned out to hear him address an REA meeting at Newnan on the first of the month," he related.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — For more than a score of years now this country has counted its dollars in so many billions that the average taxpayer thinks nothing of a mere billion dollars and is inclined to shrug his shoulders when he hears the President has asked another billion dollars for this, that or the other global boondoggle. It is this indifference, coupled with high federal taxes almost universally accepted as an unavoidable burden, that has encouraged ever-widening foreign aid of dubious value.

Perhaps an analysis of the cost of foreign aid to the federal taxpayers of the Empire State of the South in terms of what could have been obtained had our dollars been kept at home for the benefit of our own people will serve to produce some serious thought.

The Costs

First, the writer would discuss costs of foreign aid to Georgians and to Georgia in dollars; then he would translate these dollars into terms all of us can understand. Later, and before concluding the article, there will be a discussion of the very dubious worth of foreign aid as an actual bulwark to the security of our nation.

From July 1, 1945, to June 30, 1956, our foreign aid handouts, economic and military, have cost the taxpayers of Georgia $873,680,000. Add to this figure the final appropriation for the next fiscal year (Georgia's share being $63,121,500), and we find a 12-year foreign aid cost of $937,101,000 for Georgia. That is no small sum of money—greatly in excess of our entire national debt just 40 years ago, and nearly one-fifth the entire cost, to North and South, of the War Between the States!

No Aid for South

This may be a suitable point to add that when the Confederacy laid down its arms in 1865 there was no outpouring of billions for aid to the South—only an influx of carpetbaggers and scalawags who further added to the social and economic miseries of a people who had lost everything but their sense of honor and duty to their homeland. It was Dixie guts, sweat, toil and faith that rebuilt the South. There were no billion dollar grants from a compassionate Uncle Sam! And, this lack of largesse from the victor is perhaps the reason the South has rebuilt so thoroughly and so firmly. We did it ourselves!

Getting back to the cost of 12 years of foreign aid to Georgians and to Georgia, the writer would translate $937,101,000 into realities all of us can understand. First, the cost to the individuals of the State. Divide that sum of money by Georgia's latest population figures and we find it comes to $260.00 for every man, woman and child. In down-to-earth terms, $260.00 is enough money to comfortably clothe a family of four for an entire year!

Our Dollars Gone

Since less than one-fourth of the State's population pays direct federal taxes (Bureau of Internal Revenue says 920,000 Georgians make direct federal tax returns,) we find a total foreign aid cost of $1020 per taxpayer. And that sum of money, despite today's high prices, will buy groceries for a pretty large family for a solid year.

In broader terms, there will follow some of the things Georgia could have done with the $937,101,000 spent willy-nilly about the world, "buying" allies of doubtful value and promoting the economies of nations presently threatening the life of industries basic to the economy of Georgia and the South.

Our foreign aid program—to select one example—has revitalized the cotton textile industry of Japan to the point where that country's cotton fabrics can be profitably retailed in American markets at prices just half our production costs. There are scores of similar situations, too numerous to catalog in an article of this length.

Georgia's foreign aid bill totals enough to have built 32,371 miles of farm-to-market roads, or 10,753 miles of hard-surfaced primary highways. In terms of education, analysis reveals that Georgia's contribution—via federal taxes—to foreign aid is large enough to build modern school facilities (including cafeterias and gymnasiums) for the accommodation of 626,900 boys and girls in the primary and high school groups. Space limitations prevent a greater list of the State's needs which might have been bought with tax dollars poured down far-away rat holes.

Allies "Bought"

A few paragraphs back the writer referred to the purchase of "allies of doubtful value." Let's see just what we have "bought" with our foreign aid dollars.

First, there is Yugoslavia, headed by the Communist Tito. After successfully duping us out of more than $1.1 billion, the wily, two-faced Tito has rebuilt his armed forces, rehabilitated the Yugoslav economy, thumbed his nose at Uncle Sam and again espoused the cause of our greatest enemy, Soviet Russia. Despite this brazen treachery, there are those in our State Department who say we must give Tito more millions for arms which may some day slay

Georgians Owe It To Talmadge

(THE IRWINTON BULLETIN)

In his bid for the United States Senate, Former Governor Herman E. Talmadge is asking the citizens of Georgia for a practically unanimously mandate. We do not think he is asking too much. As a matter of fact, because of the fine record he made as our Governor, we owe him such a mandate. It would be a testimony of the appreciation the people of Georgia hold for the services he rendered as their Chief Executive.

Certainly if he were running for Governor the people would give him a historic landslide election. They should do it for him, too, in his bid for the Senate.

Talmadge faces some hard fights on Capitol Hill as he upholds those things we believe to be right. He says that when he speaks for the people of Georgia on the floor of the Senate, the United States Supreme Court, the White House and the Capitol, need to know he represents all the people of Georgia. That is not asking too much. We believe the people of Georgia will give Herman Talmadge a tremendous landslide victory, an attest to the faith they hold in his ability and integrity, and in appreciation for a job well done as governor.

We feel sure that when balloting time rolls around, the people of Wilkinson County will want to show as strong a victory column for charged him with being an isolationist.

It is well that Mr. Talmadge has made his position clear. The United States cannot in this era maintain a position of isolation. This country cannot fail to meet its responsibilities to the needy peoples of the world. Neither can this nation fail to act to give military and economic aid, within reason, in the places where such assistance will strengthen our own security.

Talmadge has expressed himself on foreign policy in virtually every speech he has made in the last several months. His declaration against the United States living "alone" can be construed as a positive pronouncement against isolationism and we think Georgians generally will approve this.

One of the strongest points made by the Former Governor in recent months was his argument against United States participation in the construction of the proposed Aswan Dam in Egypt. It is probable that his stock rose when the Eisenhower administration withdrew its offer in this connection.

This Is A Funny Candidate

(THE MILLEDGEVILLE UNION-RECORDER)

Here it is the middle of August and the candidate who so boldly said he would defeat Herman Talmadge for the United States Senate hasn't made the first campaign speech. This certainly isn't like politics in Georgia.

Former Governor Talmadge in true style and tradition opened his campaign with a big rally and barbecue in Rome. He followed it up with a South Georgia opening at Dublin. The crowds were there and the good old time political atmosphere was on every side. But the opposition hasn't been able to get off the ground. We doubt if he has had an invitation to make a speech or open his campaign. It certainly looks like Hawkinsville where he taught a number of years, Millen where he was born on a tenant farm or Valdosta where he now lives could get up enough money to stage a rally for M.E. We are afraid M.E. doesn't want to waste money.

If M. E. is genuine in his desire to serve Georgia then he will step aside and quit butting his head against a brick wall and end this foolishness and stop trying to bring fear, and misunderstanding among our people.

Certainly M. E. has sense enough to understand the situation. We never did classify him as a fool. We hope he will not leave us any other alternative.

A Good Speech

(THE GAINESVILLE MORNING NEWS)

On the matter of soil and water conservation and the future of our food problems Former Governor Herman Talmadge is sound and constructive. His Gainesville speech (before the Bankers Award Meeting of the Upper Chattahoochee River Soil Conservation District) was a contribution to public understanding on these issues.

As the senatorial candidate pointed out, the present problem of declining farm income is due to surplus production caused largely by increasing mechanization. Considering the present rate of growth of the American population, however, this is likely to be a temporary problem. The day is coming when we will need all our land and all of our food production.

Talmadge Indicates His Opposition To Isolationism For United States

(THE COLUMBUS ENQUIRER)

Former Gov. Talmadge rejected in a speech the other day the idea that the United States "can live alone in the world and like it."

He made the statement in calling for "a sound and sensible foreign policy of enlightened self-interest." Such a policy is more necessary now and in the years to come because "times and conditions have changed throughout the earth" and "distances are narrowing daily through rapid progress in aircraft development and instantaneous electronic communication."

He said the feeding of hungry peoples of friendly nations and taking every measure for maintaining security of the free world are "musts."

The foreign policy position was expounded in an address at Valdosta, home of M. E. Thompson, who is opposing Mr. Talmadge for the Senate. His remarks were construed by some a reply to those who have

FARM BETTER ELECTRICALLY

'Push-Button Rain' Means Profit to Tifton Farmer

A dependable 7½-horsepower electric pump helped W. A. Fletcher, one of our Tift county farm customers, to greater profits this year.

Mr. Fletcher used the pump in irrigating 8¾ acres of tobacco, 15 acres of corn and two acres of early tomatoes. His leaf yield was unusually good. He expects to make at least 75 bushels of corn per acre. His tomatoes sold for $1,040.

Mr. Fletcher requested and received the assistance of one of our rural engineers in planning the irrigation system.

Russell Moves Up

(THE ROME NEWS-TRIBUNE)

Retirement of Senator Walter F. George puts Senator Richard B. Russell in the number two spot of the seniority list of the Senate.

Russell will be second only in length of service to Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona, who exceeds him by only six years.

That Senator George has long ranked near or at the top of the seniority list has overshadowed, to some extent, the fact that Senator Russell also is a veteran of many years service, and thus is entitled to important positions on key committees.

Russell went to the Senate on Jan. 12, 1933. That was three months before Harry Byrd of Virginia, who is next in line.

Russell's length of service and the fact that he was a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination places him now in position where he can be of even more service to the State, the South and the nation.

He shoulders a great responsibility.

We in Georgia and the South, having supported him for the presidential nomination, expect him still to be a champion of states' rights and a spokesman for the Southern viewpoint.

This he can be without losing any of his national stature, for he long has been considered an able senator by people of all sections. His work as chairman of the Armed Services Committee has been vital to our national defense, and there has never been any question of the ability he displayed in that role.

A great many persons who supported Senator Russell in his candidacy four years ago have been disappointed that he did not seek the nomination again this year.

However, after his defeat at Chicago, Senator Russell made it plain that he had no further aspirations for the presidency, and gave no encouragement to further efforts in his behalf.

The opportunity for even greater service still remains before Senator Russell.

And there is every expectation that he can be aided in this opportunity by Herman Talmadge.

There isn't much doubt but that Talmadge will be elected.

And, while the seniority system in the Senate will put the new junior senator in secondary positions, certainly there will be no more vigorous or willing worker in Congress than Talmadge.

Georgians have long been proud of their two senators. The fact that one is now retiring, to be succeeded by another capable man, should not lessen the expectation of being able to continue to hold that pride.

M. E. Vs. Hypocrisy In Politics

(THE NORTH SIDE NEWS, Atlanta)

M. E. Thompson confessed over Atlanta TV recently that he hopes to make it into the United States Senate as the top banana "of the small people whom he is determined to protect against the hypocrites of politics." M. E. is just a little old-fashioned when he gets on TV and fixes his unseen audience of self-confessed "small people" with his double-whammy eye and launches into a talk about the "hypocrites in politics," who seem to be almost everyone but himself.

M. E. has never forgiven Herman Talmadge for working out the sales tax which made possible a vastly-improved school system for the whole state of Georgia.

The Talmadge success along this line was almost breathtaking even to Ellis Arnall who, in the old days, was away ahead of Thompson, his one-time executive secretary, in selling himself to the "small people."

Not long after Herman polished the Minimum Foundation Program into an established fact, Thompson told Arnall he intended to run for governor.

"Good Lord, M. E.," Arnall told Thompson, "What will you have to offer the 'small people?' Talmadge has done everything you could ever hope to do."

And that's still what's griping M. E. today. He, the anti-hypocrite, offers himself today as a candidate who is determined to have all people, small or big, at one level of income and that, by no means, a low level of income. After all, a guy's got to have something to talk about when he rents himself a half hour over TV and the NAACP has forbidden him to mention their name.

E. Dublin Council Endorses Talmadge Senate Candidacy

EAST DUBLIN, Ga. — The Mayor and City Council here have adopted a resolution endorsing the senatorial candidacy of Former Governor Herman E. Talmadge and urging all citizens of the town to support him, according to an announcement made by Mayor W. L. Lake.

The resolution was adopted unanimously at a meeting of the Council held August 1. It was signed by Mayor W. L. Lake, Clerk C. H. McDaniel, City Attorney and Recorder Paul J. Jones, Jr., and Councilmen Harlow Manning, Henry J. Wheeler, Hugh Wood, Wadis Bracewell and H. D. Keen. It reads as follows:

"A RESOLUTION ENDORSING THE CANDIDACY OF THE HONORABLE HERMAN E. TALMADGE, FOR THE OFFICE OF UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM GEORGIA, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES:

"WHEREAS, the Honorable Herman E. Talmadge, former governor of Georgia, has qualified for the office of United States Senator from Georgia, subject to the September 12, 1956 Primary, and

"WHEREAS, the members of this body have followed the illustrious career of the said Herman E. Talmadge with interest and are familiar with his ability, courage, and integrity, and tors who will represent the people from their particular states. Let the people of Georgia send Herman Talmadge to the Senate; forget "Me TOO," and keep your eyes on Herman.

O yes, we believe Herman will represent us; God knows M. E. Thompson would not, he would not even know how to represent himself! Herman has Talmadge blood in him!

From Atlanta we hear that Herman Talmadge will completely ignore M. E. Thompson in the campaign for the Senate. So far he has been doing just that, proving that it takes two to make an argument.—The Thomaston Free Press.

junior senator in secondary positions, certainly there will be no more vigorous or willing worker in Congress than Talmadge.

Georgians have long been proud of their two senators. The fact that one is now retiring, to be succeeded by another capable man, should not lessen the expectation of being able to continue to hold that pride.

M. E. Vs. Hypocrisy In Politics

(THE NORTH SIDE NEWS, Atlanta)

M. E. Thompson confessed over Atlanta TV recently that he hopes to make it into the United States Senate as the top banana "of the small people whom he is determined to protect against the hypocrites of politics." M. E. is just a little old-fashioned when he gets on TV and fixes his unseen audience of self-confessed "small people" with his double-whammy eye and launches into a talk about the "hypocrites in politics," who seem to be almost everyone but himself.

M. E. has never forgiven Herman Talmadge for working out the sales tax which made possible a vastly-improved school system for the whole state of Georgia.

The Talmadge success along this line was almost breathtaking even signed by Mayor W. L. Lake, Clerk C. H. McDaniel, City Attorney and Recorder Paul J. Jones, Jr., and Councilmen Harlow Manning, Henry J. Wheeler, Hugh Wood, Wadis Bracewell and H. D. Keen. It reads as follows:

"WHEREAS, the said Herman E. Talmadge will give Georgia and the South such representation,

One Man's Opinion

By "Parson Jack"
(THE GEORGIA TRIBUNE Columbus)

"WHAT COULD HERMAN TALMADGE DO, IF HE IS ELECTED SENATOR?"

We were discussing the election of Herman Talmadge, and the possibility of what he might do, once he was in Washington, as our Junior U. S. Senator, and a good friend of ours, and of Herman's said: "Well, what could Herman do if he should be elected; don't you know the thing is too far gone for any one man to do much about it?"

Of course, he can do something about it. We have taken into consideration the fact that Mr. Talmadge will be the "junior" Senator, but the fact remains, he is destined to be there! There was only one Abraham Lincoln, but he was always recognized, when he arrived! There was only one Elijah, but when he "Got the floor" (on Mt. Carmel,) the Baalemites knew he was speaking! There was only one David, and he had a very ordinary weapon with which to go against a giant, but with his sling, and five stones, he made his charge, and Goliath recognized the fact that the "Junior Senator" had been seated! We only need one man who will go to it, and stay put, and that's what Herman will do, or we are very badly deceived in the young fellow. He has nothing to fear, and he will have not much opposition, even Washington!

We need Congressmen and Sena-

Foreign Aid —

Americans in World War III!

France, our ally in World Wars I and II, has received $5.5 billions of our dollars. Presumably she is still an ally, but despite her commitments to the U. S.-sponosred North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a not-too-strong bulwark against the spread of Russian military might in Europe, France has pulled three combat divisions out of her NATO forces in Europe to quell peoples in Africa who are fighting for principles identical with those which prompted Georgia and the other 12 colonies to throw off the yoke of British imperialism back in 1776.

Aid Hurts Helper

It was only recently that a prominent Frenchman, Raymond Cartier, wrote in the magazine "National Review":

"Unfortunately there is little chance that America will change its attitude (on foreign aid) in the foreseeable future . . . a foreign aid which it is becoming clear, is calamitous for the helped as well as the helper."

Cartier also pointed out that Europe is now completely restored, but American dollars continue to pour in, encouraging the idle of those nations to remain idle at the expense of the reader and the writer.

India, to whom we have handed uncounted millions in foodstuffs, railway equipment, and technical aid, has virtually thumbed her nose at us as she has moved ever closer to the Russian orbit.

Little Greece, as well as Turkey, were long thought to be our principal bulwarks against Communism in the Eastern Mediterranean area, may soon be written off as effective allies. Embroiled over the island of Cyprus, populated by Greeks and Turks, Greece is about ready to pull out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization because England (another ballots for Herman Talmadge.

"If we will work for him for one month, he will work for us the next six years, devoting his full talent and energy to representing the best interests of all the people of Georgia and fighting our battle for a return to constitutional government in this nation."

All Railroad Brotherhoods Back Talmadge

The candidacy of Former Governor Herman E. Talmadge for nomination to the United States Senate has received the endorsement of all Railroad Brotherhoods comprising the Railroad Brotherhoods Cooperative Legislative Committee, according to an announcement by Committee Chairman G. N. Byrum.

The Brotherhoods and their Legislative Chairman or Representatives included in the joint endorsement are:

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, E. H. Futral; Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, G. N. Byrum; Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, J. R. Snyder; Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, C. W. White; Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, J. W. Simpson; Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, J. C. Hambright; and Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America, J. H. Blair.

The Railroad Brotherhoods Cooperative Legislative Committee, Mr. Byrum advised Talmadge in a letter, voted at its July meeting to endorse the Former Governor's candidacy. According to its rules of procedure, he pointed out, the proposed endorsement was submitted for approval to the national offices of the various Brotherhoods which was granted in each instance.

In his letter, Mr. Byrum expressed the hope that Talmadge would "carry every county as well as each militia district."

Talmadge also has received the endorsement of the Veterans Civic Association of Chatham County.

Embroiled over the island of Cyprus, populated by Greeks and Turks, Greece is about ready to pull out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization because England (another great beneficiary of our aid) refuses to relinquish Cyprus to the Hellenes. Turkey and Greece may yet take up arms against one another over Cyprus.

We have been lavish with our dollars in Egypt and other nations of the Arab world, striving to keep them out of the Russian camp. Recent news dispatches have told of Egypt's open friendship with Russia and growing hatred of Uncle Sam and the Western Democracies. The other countries of the Arab world, also beneficiaries of our help, are turning against us because of our financial and moral support of the Israeli Republic.

Can't Buy Friends

The list of "bought" allies, rapidly becoming open friends of our Russian enemy, grows daily. Despite all of this, despite the needs at home, depsite the tax burden we bear, there are those in the Administration and Congress who say we must pour out more billions of dollars—billions which may eventually work to the advantage of those who would destroy us.

In summary, "It is time for a change," and it is time to realize that the friend who can be bought for a dollar isn't worth a wooden nickel.
